SINGER & CO.'S

STANDARD MACHINES

Well known to be the best for

Manufacturing Purposes!

No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,

Reduced to $70.

No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,

Reduced to $70.

Singer's Letter A Machine,

IS the best Machine in the word for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented,

FIFTY DOLLARS.

The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.

Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy

in Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the large curved dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.

We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.

We have always on hand

Hemming Gauges, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.

We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that there are needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.

Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the best.

GENUINE ARTICLE.

In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.

☞ Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.

☞ All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis

I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,

☞ We have made the above Reduction in Prices with the two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are hid away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.

The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.

The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

OVER THE POST OFFICE.

THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.

One that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the COMPANY.

Who take pleasure in placing their Machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make

FOUR DIFFERENT STITCHES,

and have all the advantage of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine

Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a Letter Stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

DAILY GAZETTE.

Speech of Gen. Butler.

Delivered in New York April 2, 1863.

Mr. Mayor, with the profoundest gratitude for the too flattering commendation of my administration of the various trust committed to me by the government, which in behalf of your associates, you have been pleased to tender me, I ask you to receive my most heartfelt thanks. To the citizens of New York here assembled in kind appreciation of my services, supposed to have been rendered to the country, I tender the deepest acknowledgments. [Applause.] I accept it all; not for myself, but for my brave comrades of the Army of the Gulf. [Renewed applause.] I receive it as an earnest of your devotion to the country, an evidence of your loyalty to the Constitution under which you live, and under which you hope to die. In order that the acts of the Army of the Gulf may be understood, perhaps it would be well, at a little length, with your permission, that some detail should be given to the thesis upon which we administered our duties. The first question then to be ascertained is, what is this contest in which the country is engaged. At the risk of being a little tedious, at the risk of calling your attention to what might seem otherwise too elementary, I propose to run through the history of the contest, to see what it is that the whole is about at this day and this hour. That we are in the midst of civil commotion, all know. But what is that commotion? Is it a riot? Is it an insurrection? Is it a rebellion? Or is it a revolution? And pray, sir, although it may seem still more elementary, What is a riot? A riot, if understand it, is simply an outburst of the passions of men for the moment in breach of the law, to be put down by the civil authorities; if it goes farther, to be dealt with by the military authorities. But you say, sir, "Why treat us to a definition of a riot upon this occasion? Why, of all things, should you undertake to instruct a New York audience in what a riot is?" To that I answer, because the administration of Mr. Buchanan dealt with this great change of affairs as if it were a riot; because his government officer gave the opinion that in Charleston it was but a riot; and as there was no civil authority there to call out the military, therefore Sumter must be given over to the rioters; and that was the beginning of this struggle. Let us see how it grew up. I deal not now in causes, but in effects—in facts. Directly after the guns of the rebels had turned upon Sumter, the various states of the south in convention assembled, inaugurated a series of movements which took out from the Union divers states; and as each was attempted to to be taken out, the riot was no longer to be found in them, but they became insurrectionary; and the administration, upon 15th of April, 1861, dealt with it as an insurrection, and called out the militia of the United States to subdue an insurrection. I was called at that time into the service, to administer the laws in putting down an insurrection. I found a riot at Baltimore. They burned bridges, but they had hardly risen to the dignity of an insurredtion, because the state had not moved as an organized community. A few men were rioting at Baltimore; and as I marched there at the head of the United States troops, the question came up before me, what have I before me. You will remember that I offered then to put down all kinds of insurrection so long as the State of Maryland remained loyal to the United States. Transferred from thence to a wider sphere at Fortress Monroe, I found that the State of Virginia, through its organization, had taken itself out of the Union, and was endeavoring to erect for itself an independent government; and I dealt with that state as being in rebellion, and I thought the property of the rebels, of whatever name or nature, should be dealt with as rebellious property and contraband. [Great applause.]

I have been thus careful in stating the various steps, because although through your kindness replying to eulogy, I am here answering every charge of inconsistency and wrong of intention for my acts done before the country. Wrong in judgment I have been; but, I insist, wrong in intention or inconsistent, never. Upon the same theory upon which I felt myself bound to put down insurrection in Maryland, while it remained loyal, whether that insurrection consisted of blacks or whites, by the same loyalty to the constitution and laws, I felt bound to confiscate slave property in the rebellious state of Virginia. [Applause.] Pardon me, sir, if right here I say that I am a little sensitive upon this subject. I am an old-fashioned Andrew Jackson democrat, of twenty years' standing. [Applause. A voice: "The second hero of New Orleans." Renewed applause, culminating in three cheers.] And so far as I know, I have never swerved, so help me God, from one of his teachings. [Great applause.] Up to the time that disunion took place, I went as far as the farthest in sustaining the constitutional rights of the states, however bitter or however distasteful to me were the obligations my father had made for me in the compromises of the constitution, and among them it was not for me to pick out the sweet from the bitter; and fellow-democrats I took them all [loud cheers] because they were constitutional obligations [applause]; and taking them all, I stood by the south and by southern rights under the constitution until I advanced and looked into the very pit of disunion, and not liking the prospect I quietly withdrew. [Immense applause and laughter.] And we were from that hour apart, and how far apart you can judge when I tell you that on the 28th of December, 1860, I shook hands on terms of personal friendship with Jefferson Davis, and on the 28th of December, 1862, I had the pleasure of reading his proclamation that I was to be hanged at sight. [Great applause and laughter.] And now, my friends, if you will allow me to pass on for a moment in this line of thought, as we come up to the point of time when their men laid down their constitutional obligations.—What were my rights and what were theirs? At that hour they repudiated the constitution of the United States, by solemn vote in solemn convention; and not only that but they took arms in their hands, and undertook to rend from the government what seemed to them the fairest portion of the heritage which my fathers had given to me as a rich legacy to my children. When they did that, they abrogated, abnegated, and forfeited every constitutional right, and released me from every constitutional obligation. [Loud cheers.] And when I was thus called upon to say what should be my

Why dont every man, woman and child plant a tree, shrub or vine and thus erect all over the country noble living monuments which shall tell of great throbbing hearts that once lived. Who does not feel his heart beat warmer and his soul happier as his memory takes him back to the old orchard and the great elms and maples that surrounded his New England home. Yes, plant trees this spring. Make your home blossom like the rose. Plant a willow and a few evergreens on your lot in the cemetery, for you will need them some day.

You ask, where shall I get the trees to plant? We are surprised to hear you ask this question, for we supposed every one intended to buy his trees at where you can find a large stock of every adapted to this soil and climate, and a very small stock of poor stuff such as is carried around by

GREAT REDUCTION
—IN—
The Prices
—OF—
SINGER & CO.'S
STANDARD MACHINES
Well known to be the best for
Manufacturing Purposes!
No. 1, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $90,
Reduced to $70.
No. 2, Standard Shuttle Machine, formerly sold at $100,
Reduced to $70.
Singer's Letter A Machine,
IS the best Machine in the word for Family Sewing and Light Manufacturing purposes; Price, (with Hemmer,) and beautifully ornamented,
FIFTY DOLLARS.
The Nos. 1 and 2 machines are of great capacity and application for manufacturing purposes.
Our No. 3 machines are especially adapted to all kinds of light and heavy
LEATHER WORK,
In Carriage Trimming, Boot and Shoe Making, Harness Making, etc., etc. They are of extra size, with an arm long enough to take under it and stitch the large cut sized dashes. There is scarcely any part of a Trimmers' stitching that cannot be better done with them than by hand; so, too, the saving of time and labor is very great. The table under these machines is 24 inches long, and the shuttle will hold six times the usual quantity of thread. The large machines work as fast as small ones.
We would ask for our Letter A machines, the special attention of Vest Makers and Dress Makers, and all those who want machines for Light Manufacturing purposes. They embody the principles of the standard machines, making like them, the interlock stitch, and are destined to be as celebrated for Family Sewing and light manufacturing purposes as our standard machines are for manufacturing purposes in general.
We have always on hand
Hemming Guages, Silk Twist, Linen and Cotton Thread on Spools, Best Machine Oil in Bottles, etc., etc.
We manufacture our own Needles, and would warn all persons using our machines not to buy any others. We know that those needles sold of the most inferior quality, at higher prices than we charge for the best. The needles sold by us are manufactured especially for our machines. A bad needle may render the best machine almost useless.
Our customers may rest assured that all our Branch Offices are furnished with the best
GENUINE ARTICLE.
In case of small purchases, the money may be sent in postage stamps or bank notes.
☞ Correspondents will please write their names distinctly. It is all important that we should in each case know the post office, county and state.
☞ All persons requiring information about Sewing Machines, their size, prices, working capacities, and the best methods of purchasing, can obtain it by sending to us, or any of our Branch Offices for a copy of
I. M. SINGER & CO.'S GAZETTE,
which is a beautifully illustrated Pictorial Paper. It will be sent Gratis
☞ We have made the above Reduction in Prices with this two fold view of benefitting the public and ourselves. The public have been swindled by spurious machines made in imitation of ours. The metal in them, from the iron casting to the smallest piece, is of poor quality. Their makers have not the means to do their work well. They are kept away in secret places, where it would be impossible to have at their command the proper mechanical appliances. It is only by doing a great business, and having extensive manufacturing establishments, that good machines can be made at moderate prices. The best designed machines, badly Made, are always liable to get out of order, and are sure to cost considerable trouble and money to keep them in repair.
The qualities to be looked for in a machine are: certainty of correct action at all rates of speed, simplicity of construction, great durability and rapidity of operation, with the least labor. Machines to combine these essential qualities, must be made of the best metal and finished to perfection. We have the ways and means, on a grand scale, to do this.
The purchasers of machines, whose daily bread it may concern, will find that those having the above qualities not only work well at rapid as well as slow rates of speed, but last long in the finest possible working order. Our machines, as made by us, will earn more money with less labor than any others, whether in imitation of ours or not. In fact, they are cheaper than any other machine as a gift.

FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE.
OVER THE POST OFFICE.
THERE is nothing so much sought for by the public as a practical Sewing Machine, one that is Simple, Strong & Reliable.
one that will run for years without the annoyance of being out of repair; one that is noiseless and swift in motion; also that makes the stitch as you want it, alike on both sides of the fabric; such are the machines of the
FLORENCE SEWING MACHINE COMPANY.
Who take pleasure in placing their Machines before the public, and unhesitatingly say they are the best in the world, and openly and publicly challenge machines of any and all manufactures to do as large a range of work as can easily be done on one of these machines. They make
FOUR DIFFERENT STITCHES,
and have all the advantage of a reversible feed motion, which carries the work either way, which, together with making all the four stitches, can be done whilst the machine is in motion; the saving of time in stopping to change the length of stitch, is obviated by this machine
Any correspondence regarding our Machines will be promptly answered. Enclose a Letter Stamp and we will send circular and sample of work by return mail.

DAILY GAZETTE.

Speech of Gen. Butler.

Delivered in New York April 2, 1863.

Mr. Mayor, with the profoundest gratitude for the too flattering commendation of my administration of the various trust committed to me by the government, which in behalf of your associates, you have been pleased to tender me, I ask you to receive my most heartfelt thanks. To the citizens of New York here assembled in kind appreciation of my services, supposed to have been rendered to the country, I tender the deepest acknowledgments. [Applause.] I accept it all; not for myself, but for my brave comrades of the Army of the Gulf. [Renewed applause.] I receive it as an earnest of your devotion to the country, an evidence of your loyalty to the Constitution under which you live, and under which you hope to die. In order that the acts of the Army of the Gulf may be understood, perhaps it would be well, at a little length, with your permission, that some detail should be given to the thesis upon which we administered our duties. The first question then to be ascertained is, what is this contest in which the country is engaged. At the risk of being a little tedious, at the risk of calling your attention to what might seem otherwise too elementary, I propose to run through the history of the contest, to see what it is that the whole is about at this day and this hour. That we are in the midst of civil commotion, all know. But what is that commotion? Is it a riot? Is it an insurrection? Is it a rebellion? Or is it a revolution? And pray, sir, although it may seem still more elementary, What is a riot? A riot, if under stand it, is simply an outburst of the passions of men for the moment in breach of the law, to be put down by the civil authorities; if it goes farther, to be dealt with by the military authorities. But you say, sir, "Why treat us to a definition of a riot upon this occasion? Why, of all things, should you undertake to instruct a New York audience in what a riot is?" To that I answer, because the administration of Mr. Buchanan dealt with this great change of affairs as if it were a riot; because his government officer gave the opinion that in Charleston it was but a riot; and as there was no civil authority there to call out the military, therefore Sumter must be given over to the rioters; and that was the beginning of this struggle. Let us see how it grew up. I deal not now in causes, but in effects—in facts. Directly after the guns of the rebels had turned upon Sumter, the various states of the south in convention assembled, inaugurated a series of movements which took out from the Union divers states; and as each was attempted to to be taken out, the riot was no longer to be found in them, but they became insurrectionary: and the administration, upon 15th of April, 1861, dealt with it as an insurrection, and called out the militia of the United States to subdue an insurrection. I was called at that time into the service, to administer the laws in putting down an insurrection. I found a riot at Baltimore. They burned bridges, but they had hardly risen to the dignity of an insurredtion, because the state had not moved as an organized community. A few men were rioting at Baltimore; and as I marched there at the head of the United States troops, the question came up before me, what have I before me. You will remember that I offered then to put down all kinds of insurrection so long as the State of Maryland remained loyal to the United States. Transferred from thence to a wider sphere at Fortress Monroe, I found that the State of Virginia, through its organization, had taken itself out of the Union, and was endeavoring to erect for itself an independent government; and I dealt with that state as being in rebellion, and I thought the property of the rebels, of whatever name or nature, should be dealt with as rebellious property and contraband. [Great applause.]

I have been thus careful in stating the various steps, because although through your kindness replying to eulogy, I am here answering every charge of inconsistency and wrong of intention for my acts done before the country. Wrong in judgment I have been; but, I insist, wrong in intention or inconsistent, never. Upon the same theory upon which I felt myself bound to put down insurrection in Maryland, while it remained loyal, whether that insurrection consisted of blacks or whites, by the same loyalty to the constitution and laws, I felt bound to confiscate slave property in the rebellious state of Virginia. [Applause.] Pardon me, sir, if right here I say that I am a little sensitive upon this subject. I am an old-fashioned Andrew Jackson democrat, of twenty years' standing. [Applause. A voice: "The second hero of New Orleans." Renewed applause, culminating in three cheers.] And so far as I know, I have never swerved, so help me God, from one of his teachings. [Great applause.] Up to the time that disunion took place, I went as far as the furthest in sustaining the constitutional rights of the states, however bitter or however distasteful to me were the obligations my father had made for me in the compromises of the constitution, and among them it was not for me to pick out the sweet from the bitter; and fellow-democrats I took them all [loud cheers] because they were constitutional obligations [applause]; and taking them all, I stood by the south and by southern rights under the constitution until I advanced and looked into the very pit of disunion, and not liking the prospect I quietly withdrew. [Immense applause and laughter.] And we were from that hour apart, and how far apart you can judge when I tell you that on the 28th of December, 1860, I shook hands on terms of personal friendship with Jefferson Davis, and on the 28th of December, 1862, I had the pleasure of reading his proclamation that I was to be hanged at sight. [Great applause and laughter.] And now, my friends, if you will allow me to pass on for a moment in this line of thought, as we come up to the point of time when their men laid down their constitutional obligations.—What were my rights and what were theirs? At that hour they repudiated the constitution of the United States, by solemn vote in solemn convention; and not only that but they took arms in their hands, and undertook to rend from the government what seemed to them the fairest portion of the heritage which my fathers had given to me as a rich legacy to my children. When they did that, they abrogated, abnegated, and forfeited every constitutional right, and released me from every constitutional obligation. [Loud cheers.] And when I was thus called upon to say what should be my

Gen. Butler's Speech.

We commence, to-day, the publication of Gen. Butler's great speech, delivered in New York on the occasion of a grand ovation tendered to him by the citizens of that city. On account of its length, we shall be compelled to divide it into three parts, publishing one-third of it each day, but we hope no one will fail to give it a perusal on that account. It deals with the rebellion in a radical manner, and discusses great principles in the bold and masterly way peculiar to the accomplished statesman and military leader who delivered it.

Milwaukee to the Soldiers.

The Milwaukee News publishes the following comments on the election which has recently transpered in that city:

THE RESOLUTIONS ANSWERED.—The army officers who have amused themselves by sending home political resolutions for the purpose of intimidating the democracy of Milwaukee will find a reply in the vote of this city we record to-day. There are no stronger "copperheads" in the state than Judge Cothren and the officers elect of the city of Milwaukee.

The county will probably give nearly five thousand majority for Judge Cothren, the democratic candidate for chief justice.

This expression of popular opinion should receive no misconstruction. Every candidate voted for was a pledged friend and advocate of the distinctive principles of the democratic party. Judge Cothren, the candidate for chief justice, is among the most prominent of the opponents of the political measures of the administration in the state, and as such his election was both advocated and opposed.

The distructive principles of the democratic party here alluded to as recieving so unanimous a support, are understood to be—opposition to the war, a peace founded upon a compromise with the rebels, an armistice and the disbanding of the army in the face of the enemy, a resistance to the draft by the aid of the state judiciary, the disfranchisement of volunteers while in the army, and the discouragement of every patriotic impulse and expression on the part of citizens and soldiers, in the army and out of it, which looks to the subjugation of the rebels, and compelling them to lay down their arms and submit to the authority of the government. This is Milwaukee's response to the army, and her five thousand majority tells our brave boys, that so far as that city and county are concerned, they have no sympathy with them in the work which they have in hand. They may meet death in endeavoring to uphold the old flag against traitors, but Milwaukee don't care. Let them die, but Milwaukee turns a scornful ear upon their sufferings and heroism. The soldiers have dared to intimate that they are devoted to their country and not to the democratic party, and therefore Milwaukee flaunts a "copperhead" majority in their faces, and warn them to send home no more political resolutions.

We very much regret that we have a city in Wisconsin which proclaims with so much unanimity its want of sympathy with the sacred cause of our country, and which openly boasts of its copperheadism. It ought to be located in the heart of Dixie, as a suburb of Charleston or Richmond, where the great majority of its citizens would find sympathizing friends and companions among the red-handed traitors who are intent on the destruction of our country and all who sustain it.

Municipal Elections.

Beaver Dam.—The entire national Union ticket is elected by about 70 majority.

La Crosse.—The democratic ticket is elected by a small majority, except aldermen, who stand two and two.

Racine.—The whole Union ticket is elected by from 15 to 150 majority.

Kenosha.—Robinson (dem.) re-elected mayor by a diminished majority. The common council stands Union 9, democrats 3.

Waukesha.—The Union ticket elected.

Milwaukee.—No opposition to the democratic ticket.

☞ The New York Independent rejoices over the fact that "religious gambling" in the shape of lotteries, &c., at church fairs, has been knocked in the head. Hereafter, according to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Act, a license for lotteries of every kind must be taken out, at an expense of $1,000. The penalty for neglect to do so is three times the amount of the license—$3,000.

But, while this license destroys lotteries in a small way, does it not, by implication, authorize this species of gambling by those who go into the business so extensively as to be able to pay the license of a $1,000?

VOTE OF THE 30TH REGIMENT.—The official vote of the 30th regiment (stationed at Madison) for chief justice, was 569 for Dixon and 55 for Cothren. In four companies Judge Cothren did not get a vote; in two companies he got 1 vote in each, and in one company he got four votes.—Last fall the regiment gave only 271 major-

For the Daily Gazette.

Write Cheerfully to the Soldiers.

Fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, wives and children, sweet hearts and friends, do you frequently write to your brave soldiers in the army of the Union? This you should do certainly. There should be no dearth of letters among those who have gone forth to uphold the honor of our country in the hour of peril. Write often, and write cheerfully.

From "a call to my country women" in the Atlantic Monthly for March, I take the following passage, which I commend heartily to the attention of letter writers: "Follow the soldier to the battle field with your spirit. The great army of letters that marches southward with every morning's sun is a powerful engine of war. Fill them with tears and with sighs, lament separation and suffering, dwell on your loneliness and fears, mourn over the dishonesty of contractors and the incompetency of leaders, doubt if the South will ever be conquered, and foresee final ruin, and you will damp the powder and dull the swords that ought to deal death upon the foe. Write as tenderly as you will. In camp the roughest man idealizes his far off home, and every word of love uplifts him to a lover. But let your tenderness unfold its sunny side, and keep the shadows for His pity who knows the end from the beginning, whom no foreboding can dishearten. Glory in your tribulation. Show your soldier that his unflinching courage, his undying fortitude, are your crown of rejoicing. Incite him to enthusiasm by your inspiration. Make a mock of your discomforts. Be unwearying in details of the little interests of home. Fill your letters with kittens and canaries, with baby's shoes and Johnny's handsome gown. Keep him posted in all the village gossip, the lectures, the courtings, the sleigh-rides and the singing schools. Bring out the good points of the world in strong relief. Tell every sweet and brave and pleasant and funny story you can think of. Show him that you clearly apprehend that all this warfare means peace, and that a dastardly peace would pave the way for speedy, incessant, and more appalling warfare. Help him to bear his burdens by showing him how elastic you are under yours. Hearten him, enliven him, tone him up to the true hero-pitch."

I wish now to quote a brief passage from a soldier's letter recently received. My brave friend says: "I can assure you that the efforts made in our behalf by the loved ones at home are not in vain. Often, when the tide of uncertain war seemed to roll against us, and we felt weary and homesick, have letters from home, breathing love and affection, telling us that we are kindly cared for, that we are remembered in the evening prayer, and also in the morning petition,—often have these letters given us renewed strength and courage; they have revived our drooping spirits, and we have been able to meet once more the tide of battle and roll it back on the foe. If wives, sisters, mothers, friends and sweet-hearts only knew how much they could help on our cause by writing letters which breathe a patriotic and cheerful spirit, it seems to me they would write oftener, and with less of the mournful and discouraging style of composition. If they only knew they were helping on desertions, eloping to demoralize the army, by writing discouraging and fault-finding letters, I know they would sooner see their right hand withered than to be engaged in such a work. I am not troubled personally with any such communications from home, for my wife is a perfect heroine, and is braver than I am. But for the benefit of others, I would say to 'dear ones' at home, comfort, aid, strengthen and assist your 'bold soldier boys' all you can, and man will praise and God will bless you for it."

Do not forget to write, friends; but write cheerfully, write patriotically. Send along loyal papers—don't be afraid of spending a few dimes for this purpose. Keep the soldiers posted in home affairs. W.

THE FEELING OF THE ARMY.—An officer in one of the Wisconsin regiments in McArthur's Division at Lake Providence, La., writes thus:

"The four Wisconsin regiments, viz: the 14th, 16th, 17th and 18th, in this division, are in good health, but very little sickness in either regiment, and from an intimate acquaintance with nearly all the officers and soldiers, I can also state that they are as ready as ever to do battle for the Union, regarding with detestation and abhorrence any class of men or party that advocates peace upon any other terms than a Union restored and indivisible. This is so without reference to former political predilections."

AIR AT WORK.—A paragraph in the foreign news by the Arabia says that the London "Pneumatic Dispatch Company" has commenced forwarding mail-bags through its underground tubes. This enterprise is novel. The pneumatic tubes which have been laid by the company extend from the Easton Railway Station to the Northwestern District post office in Eversholt street, London, a distance of only one-third of a mile, but sufficient for experiment purposes. The tube resembles an eliptical gas main, thirty-three inches wide, and laid in nine feet lengths, at an average depth of nine feet below the street level. The joints are filled with lead so as to be perfectly air-tight. Within this tube runs a wrought iron car, eight feet long, weighing eight cwt., and fitted with four wheels, each twenty inches in diameter. At each end of the tube is a hollow iron wheel, working in an air-tight box of twenty-one inches in diameter, which is connected with a steam engine of seventeen horse power. The wheel turns at a velocity of seventy to ninety miles an hour, when the air which is drawn through its hollow centre is thrown off from its periphery with a force that gives a pressure of from five to seven ounces on the square inch. The iron cars in the tube present a surface of nearly five square feet to the blast, and are propelled at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

The entire cost of a line of five miles is estimated at £131,000, and it is proposed to carry freight as well as mail through London, at the cheap rate of a penny (two cents) a ton per mile. So far the experiment is successful, and the results are very interesting and curious.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

The only silent sounds we know of are

Speech of Gen. Butler.

action with regard to slavery, I was left to the natural instincts of my heart, as prompted by a christian education in New England, and I dealt with it accordingly, as I was no longer bound. [Immense applause.] Then I undertook earnestly and respectfully to maintain, with the same sense of duty to my constitutional obligations and to state rights, so long as they remained under the constitution, that required me to support the system of slavery—and the same sense of duty and right, after they had gone out from under that constitution, caused me to follow the dictates of my own conscience, untrammeled.—[Cheers.]

So, my friends, you see, however misjudging I may have been, and I speak to my old democratic friends, I claim we went along, step by step, up to that point, and we should still go along, step by step; for, except the right to hold slaves was made a part of the compromises made by our fathers in the constitution, and if their state rights were to be respected because of our allegiance to the constitution and our respect to state rights, yet, when that sacred obligation was taken away, and we as well as the negroes were disenthralled, why should not we follow the dictates of God's law and humanity? [Tremendous applause and cries of "Bravo; bravo."] By the exigencies of the public service removed once more to another sphere of action, at New Orleans, I found this problem to come at in another form, and that led me to examine and see how far had progressed this civil commotion, now carried on by force of arms. I found, under our complex system of states and an independent government, and the United States covering all, that there can be treason to the state and not to the United States, and revolution in the state and not as regards the United States, and loyalty to the state and disloyalty to the Union, and loyalty to the Union and disloyalty to the organized government of the state. And, as an illustration, take the troubles which almost lately arose in the state of Rhode Island, where there was an attempt to rebel against the state government and to change the form of state government. All of you are familiar with the movements of Mr. Dorr; there was no intent of disloyalty against the United States, but a great deal against the state government. I therefore in Louisiana found a state government that had entirely changed its form, and had revolutionized itself so far as she could; created courts and imposed taxes; and I found, so far as this state government was concerned, it was no longer in and of itself one of the United States of America. It had so far as it could changed its state government, and by solemn act had forever seceded from the United States of America and attempted to join the confederate states; and I found, I respectfully submit, a revolutionized state! There had been a revolution beyond an insurrection and infraction of the law; beyond the abnegation and setting aside of the law, and a new state government formed, that was being supported by force of arms. Now, upon what thesis shall I deal with these people? Organized into a community under forms of law, they had seized a portion of the territory of the United States; and I respectfully submit I must deal with them as alien enemies. [Great applause.] They had forever passed the boundary of wayward sisters [great laughter and applause,] unless indeed they erred as Cain did against his brother Abel. They had passed beyond that and outside of that. Aye, and Louisiana had done this in the strongest possible way, for she had seized on territory which the government of the United States had bought and paid for. Therefore I dealt with them as alien enemies. [Applause.]

And what rights have alien enemies, captured in war? They have the right, so long as they behave themselves and are non-combatants, to be free from personal violence; they have no other rights; and therefore, it was my duty to see to it, and I believe the record will show, I did see to it. [Great applause and loud cheers.] I did see to it that order was preserved, and that every man who behaved well, and did not aid the confederate states, should not be molested in person. I held everything else that they had was at the mercy of the conqueror [cheers], and to give you an idea of it, permit me to state the method in which their rights were defined by one gentleman of my staff. He very coolly paraphrased the Dred Scott decision, and said they had no rights which a negro was bound to respect. [Loud and prolonged laughter and cheers.] And dealing with them, I took care to protect all men in personal safety. Now I heard a friend behind me say, but how did that affect loyal men? The difficulty with that proposition is this: in governmental action the government, in making peace and carrying on war, cannot deal with individuals, but with organized communities, whether organized wrongly or rightly [cheers], and all I could do, so far as my judgment taught me, for the loyal citizen, was to see to it that no exaction should be put upon him. No property should be taken away from him that was not absolutely necessary for the success of military operations. I know nothing else that I could do. I could not alter the carrying on of the war, because loyal citizens were, unfortunately, like Dog Tray, found in bad company [laughter], and to their persons, and to their property, even, all possible protection I caused to be afforded. But let me repeat—for it is quite necessary to keep it in mind, and I am afraid that the want of this is why some of my old democratic friends have got lost, in getting from one portion of the country to the other, in their thoughts and feelings—let me repeat that, in making war or making peace, carrying on governmental operations of any sort, governments and the representatives, so far as I am instructed, can deal only with organized communities, and men must fall or rise with the communities in which they are situated. You in New York must follow the government as expressed by the will of the majority of your state, until you can revolutionize against that government; and those loyal at the south must, until this contest comes into process of sentiment, also follow the action of the organized majorities in which their lot has been cast, and no man, no set of men, can see the solution of this or any other governmental problem, as affecting states, except upon this basis.

Now, then, to pass from the particular to the general, to leave the detail in Louisiana, which I have run down the account of rather as illustrating my meaning than otherwise, I come to the proposition, what is the contest with all the states that are banded together in the so-called confederate states? Into what form has it come? It started in insurrection; it grew up a rebellion; it has become a revolution, and carrying with it all the rights of a revolution. And our government has dealt with it upon that ground. When they blockaded their ports, they dealt with it as a revolution; when they sent out cartels of exchange of prisoners, they dealt with these people no longer as simple insurrectionists and traitors, but as organized revolutionists, who had set up a government for themselves upon the territory of the United States. Let no man say to me, sir, let no man say to me, "Why, then you acknowledge the rights of revolution in these men!" I beg your pardon, sir, I only acknowledge the [illegible] of revolution. What had happened? I look these things in the face, and I do not dodge them because they are unpleasant; I find this a revolution, and these men are no longer, I repeat, our erring brethren, but they are our alien enemies, foreigners [cheers], carrying on war against us, attempting to make alliances against us, attempting to get into the family of nations. I agree, not a successful revolution, and a revolution never to be successful [loud cheers]; pardon me, I was speaking of a matter of law,—never to be successful until acknowledged by the parent state. And now, then, I am willing to unite with you in your cheers when you say, a revolution which we never will acknowledge.—[Cheers.] Why, sir, have I been so careful in bringing down with great distinctness these distinctions? Because, in my judgment, there are certain logical consequences following from them as necessarily as various corollaries from a problem in Euclid. If we are at war, as I think, with a foreign country to all intents and purposes, how can a man here stand up and say he is on the side of that foreign country and not be an enemy? [Cheers.] A man must be either for his country or against his country. [Cheers.] He cannot be throwing impediments all the time in the way of the progress of his country under the pretense that he is helping some other portion of his country.

Last Night's Report.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.

A private letter "Off Charleston, April 1st," says:

"It is reported that Charleston has been evacuated by all the women and children. Four Federal iron-clads have been in Edisto river, 20 miles south of here for a week. Admiral Dupont will be here to-day, when it is said the bombardment will come off.

"It is reported that the army will remain at Port Royal until after the bombardment. I think the report is probable, as the rebels had time and opportunity to fortify the land approaches, and make them almost impregnable.

"We have been engaged for the last two days in hanging chains to the sides of our vessels to protect the machinery."

WASHINGTON, April 8.

The government, up to one o'clock, had not received any information regarding events at Charleston.

HELENA, April 4, via Cairo, 7.

The hospital boat City of Louisiana passed up this forenoon. She was crowded with sick soldiers from Gen. Grant's army, en route to northern hospitals. Everything was quiet at Vicksburg.

No later advices from Fort Greenwood has been received. Gen. Ross is expected to arrive here with his division to-morrow.

Several regiments at this post are under marching orders.

MEMPHIS, April 5, via Cairo, 7.

Col. Bissell's corps of engineers arrived here to-day. They will be sent to repair the Memphis & Charleston railroad, and put it in running order.

CINCINNATI, April 7.

A letter from a leading officer in Gen. Rosecrans' army, received here to-day, and dated April 4th, states that the enemy in their front have been reinforced by 60,000 to 75,000 men, and that their numbers are overwhelmingly large. Deserters bring this intelligence to headquarters, and state that no retreat from the present position of the rebels is contemplated, or will be entertained.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 7.

Judge Constable had a hearing to-day before Judge Treat, of the United States district court. A full examination showed that the sergeants, McFarlane and Long, had no authority to take deserters in Illinois, and that the judge acted properly in releasing the men arrested and in holding the officers to bail. He was accordingly discharged from custody. The judgment of the court was rendered simply upon the evidence submitted, the merits of Judge Constable's decision not being discussed.

NEW YORK, April 8.

The New York Evening Post learns that on the 4th inst., Gen. Foster was at Little Washington, with a brigade of North Carolina and a number of other troops, virtually surrounded by the rebels, who have erected batteries on the river between Little Washington and Newbern. It is understood that a battle between Gen. Foster and the rebels had taken place, but nothing definite is known. Heavy firing was heard, lasting from Wednesday night to Friday night, evidently from rebel batteries. Gen. Foster's means of defense are considered ample, having fort entrenchments and sufficient ammunition and provisions.—Large reinforcements in transports below the batteries were unable to reach Foster for want of a naval force competent to take them. It is reported that Foster had sent to Fortress Monroe some time since for naval reinforcements, and it was expected that troops would be sent from Suffolk.

CAIRO, April 8.

Special to Chicago Journal.—Two important expeditions have left Milliken's Bend. They each consist of full divisions of infantry, and are commanded respectively Gen. Steele and Gen. Osterhaus.

Nothing is as yet definitely known as to the operations down the Yazoo Pass.

The gunboat Cincinnati arrived here this afternoon for repairs. She is disabled in her steering apparatus, and had to be towed up by the Rowena and Polar Star.

The steamer Glasgow came down this morning from the Tennessee. She was fired into at Harpeth Shoals, by guerrillas, and her mate, J. Cunningham, and a deck hand named Collins, were severely wounded. The pilot, A. C. Metheny, while at the wheel, was struck by a ball, which passed through his coat, pants, drawers and two shirts, causing a severe bruise, but doing no other damage.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 7.

Returns have been received from every town in the State, except Hartford. The vote for governor foots up, Buckingham 38,309, Seymour 35,836. Buckingham's majority is about 2,500. The Senate stands 14 Union and 7 Democrats. House, 139 Union and 94 Democrats, with two towns a tie. For Congress, Dening, Brandigee, and Hubbard, Union, and English, Democrat, are elected.

CAIRO, April 8.

Deserters, stragglers, convalescents from hospitals, those who have overstaid their furloughs, and other soldiers who have been absent from their regiments, are returning to them through Cairo, at the rate of about two hundred a day. Within the last month several thousands have thus been added to General Grant's army, and still they come. Although the time for the President's proclamation is out, they are still sent forward as fast as they arrive.

To-Day's Report.

(Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.)

MORNING DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 9.

From various correspondents the following additional facts are gleaned relative to Gen. Foster's position at Washington, N. C. On the 30th ult., about 10,000 rebels under Hill and Petigrew went to the north side of the town, and seven regiments were on the south bank of the Pamlico river.—Two companies of the 44th Massachusetts while on a reconnoisance, marched right into the ambuscade, suffering considerably from the withering fire of musketry at shot range. Capt. Lyon's company of North Carolina troops was also badly cut up, 3 or 4 killed and 6 or 8 wounded, among the latter Capt. Lyon. The gunboat Com. Holt opened on the rebels, and scattering them. That night the rebels took up all the buoys in the river, and planted batteries in such a position along the bank as to render it almost impossible for the vessels to pass, and established themselves on Red Hill, two miles from the town, completely commanding our works.

Next day the Com. Holt got aground, and was struck thirty times by the rebel batteries, but finally got off. Two transports with troops, unsuccessfully attempted to reach Foster. A small lighter succeeded in reaching Foster with supplies and ammunition. Hill notified Foster to remove all women and children, as he intended to shell the town, but up to the 2d it had not been done, as our gunboats had kept the battery fully engaged. On the 4th, more gunboats arrived, and others with 9 and 11 inch guns were expected. On the 5th the fort was heavily sodded, and Foster has over 2,000 troops. A Newbern letter dated the 3d, 10 P. M., states that the gunboats which arrived at the mouth of the river, it is thought, will be able to demolish the rebel batteries. Gens. Palmer and Prince have taken such steps as lead to the removal of all fears for the safety of Foster. The rebels are reported as having 5,000 men between Newburn and Washington.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF POTOMAC, April 8th, 1863.

Richmond papers say that the storm has at last broke over Charleston. We are confident of the result, but may heaven preserve that city from its enemies and ours.

MILWAUKEE, April 9th.

Kenosha city and county give Dixon about 350 majority.

Dane county will give Dixon a small majority, a gain of 600 over last fall's vote.

Dodgeville gives Dixon 79 majority.

Richmond Centre, Richland county, gives Dixon 98 majority.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., April 8.

1200 rebels, under Woodward, with 2 pieces of cannon, captured and burned the steamers Lovell and Saxonia to-day, killing the captain of the Saxonia.

Generals Johnston and Bragg recently boasted that they would possess Kentucky before harvest.

CINCINNATI, April 9th.

A special to the Commercial from Murfreesboro', says: Col. Wilder has returned from an expedition, via Lebanon and Carthage, having captured 29 rebels, destroyed quantities of wheat, corn and bacon. He also brought 360 negroes. Our expeditions have recently destroyed much rebel subsistence and forage, and captured 700 horses and mules, 200 prisoners, and 200 negroes.

NEW YORK, April 9.

Stocks opened lower, but firmer after board. Gold closed at 47. Sterling exchange dull.

Flour dull and drooping, at 6,70a6,90 for extra state; 7,20a7,30 R H O. Wheat dull and drooping, nominal at 1,38a1,60 for Chicago spring; 1,60a1,64 for Milwaukee club; 1,69a1,72 for winter red. Corn heavy and drooping. Oats quiet. Lard quiet. Whiskey dull.

MILWAUKEE, April 9.

Flour quiet. Wheat steady at 1.07½a 1.17.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—On the morning of the state election, the copperheads of Providence, R. I., to fill a vacancy, placed the name of Ex-Governor Charles Jackson on their ticket for senator in the legislature, and elected the ticket. Since the election, the copperheads have ascertained that the ex-governor, although always a democrat, is an active member of the union league; and now they are rolling themselves in sackcloth and ashes and all kinds of dirt, as a penance for having voted for a union leaguer.

A GOOD IDEA.—Capt. Coulter, formerly of the 11th Pennsylvania regiment, who lost his arm at Fredericksburg, has obtained the sanction of the President to raise a brigade composed of men who through disability are unfitted for active duty in the field. These troops will be used for provost, garrison and hispital duty. By this means a large number of able-bodied troops now performing this duty will be sent into the field.

COTTON SEED.—The farmers in Southern Illinois are taking hold of cotton seed in earnest this season. Six car loads of seed were sent to different points on the line of the Illinois Central, from Cairo, this week.

THE BRITISH WEDDING.—Marriage is frequently happy or unhappy, according, to use a familiar phrase, to the means of boiling the pot. The Danish bride is portionless, but the bridegroom, as the elder-born son of England, and future King, has enough for both. Each Prince of Wales is born, not with a silver spoon, but with a golden ladel in his mouth. From the moment when he draws his first breath he succeeds to various hereditary titles, with the revenue of the Duchy of Cornwall to maintain their "dignity." This annual rental, when there is not a Prince of Wales, goes into the pocket of the reigning monarch; where there is, it ought to be laid by and husbanded for him during the 21 years of his minority. George the Third took all this money, (a gross total of $1,190,000,) while his son was under age, and subsequently declined giving an account, or surrendering a sixpence of it—claiming the whole as an offset to the board and lodging, dress and education from youth to manhood!

The parents of the present Prince of Wales acted more honestly. The pecuniary affairs of the Duchy of Cornwall were so wisely administered, that on attaining his majority last November, he found his revenue or rental increased from £20,000 to over £46,000 a year—and accumulated rental to the amount of £563,000 in the three per cent consols, actually worth £420,000 at the market price of the day. Out of this £250,000 has already been paid away on the purchase of an estate in Norfolk, to be the Prince's private residence, the annual renting of which will be about £5,000, or 2½ per cent on the capital invested. His outfit, such as the furnishing of Marlborough house, adjacent to St. James' palace, carriages, stud, livery place, &c., will absorb £100,000 of the balance, and £160,000 is to be expended on the mansion and land at Norfolk. The rent, with interest of the remainder added to the Duchy revenue, gives the Prince a clear rental of £90,000 a year. To this Parliament has added £40,000 a year for the Prince, and £10,000 for the Princess, with final provision of £30,000 a year as jointure, should her husband die before her.

A new line of steamships has been established between New York and Washington, to accommodate the immense amount of freight going to the latter city.

THE WAR SPRING DRIED UP.—The Fredericksburg correspondent of the Tallahassee Floridian tells the following strange story:

"While speaking of peace, there is a legend connected with a spring near Fredericksburg, which I will relate for the benefit of the curious. According to tradition, this spring was discovered running three months before the revolutionary war.—Three months before a treaty of peace it dried up and ceased to run. It commenced running again before the war of 1812, and three months before its close, as in the revolutionary war, it again dried up, and so with the Mexican war. Three months before the fall of Fort Sumpter it again commenced running, and a short time since dried up. I give as my author for this an aged man who was born and is living near the spring, and who has considerable property, and offers to bet it all that we will have peace in three months from the dry-up of the spring."

DIED.

Gen. Butler's Speech.

We commence, to-day, the publication of Gen. Butler's great speech, delivered in New York on the occasion of a grand ovation tendered to him by the citizens of that city. On account of its length, we shall be compelled to divide it into three parts, publishing one-third of it each day, but we hope no one will fail to give it a perusal on that account. It deals with the rebellion in a radical manner, and discusses great principles in the bold and masterly way peculiar to the accomplished statesman and military leader who delivered it.

Milwaukee to the Soldiers.

The Milwaukee News publishes the following comments on the election which has recently transpered in that city:

THE RESOLUTIONS ANSWERED.—The army officers who have amused themselves by sending home political resolutions for the purpose of intimidating the democracy of Milwaukee will find a reply in the vote of this city we record to-day. There are no stronger "copperheads" in the state than Judge Cothren and the officers elect of the city of Milwaukee.

The county will probably give nearly five thousand majority for Judge Cothren, the democratic candidate for chief justice.

This expression of popular opinion should receive no misconstruction. Every candidate voted for was a pledged friend and advocate of the distinctive principles of the democratic party. Judge Cothren, the candidate for chief justice, is among the most prominent of the opponents of the political measures of the administration in the state, and as such his election was both advocated and opposed.

The distructive principles of the democratic party here alluded to as recieving so unanimous a support, are understood to be—opposition to the war, a peace founded upon a compromise with the rebels, an armistice and the disbanding of the army in the face of the enemy, a resistance to the draft by the aid of the state judiciary, the disfranchisement of volunteers while in the army, and the discouragement of every patriotic impulse and expression on the part of citizens and soldiers, in the army and out of it, which looks to the subjugation of the rebels, and compelling them to lay down their arms and submit to the authority of the government. This is Milwaukee's response to the army, and her five thousand majority tells our brave boys, that so far as that city and county are concerned, they have no sympathy with them in the work which they have in hand. They may meet death in endeavoring to uphold the old flag against traitors, but Milwaukee don't care. Let them die, but Milwaukee turns a scornful ear upon their sufferings and heroism. The soldiers have dared to intimate that they are devoted to their country and not to the democratic party, and therefore Milwaukee flaunts a "copperhead" majority in their faces, and warn them to send home no more political resolutions.

We very much regret that we have a city in Wisconsin which proclaims with so much unanimity its want of sympathy with the sacred cause of our country, and which openly boasts of its copperheadism. It ought to be located in the heart of Dixie, as a suburb of Charleston or Richmond, where the great majority of its citizens would find sympathizing friends and companions among the red-handed traitors who are intent on the destruction of our country and all who sustain it.

Municipal Elections.

Beaver Dam.—The entire national Union ticket is elected by about 70 majority.

La Crosse.—The democratic ticket is elected by a small majority, except aldermen, who stand two and two.

Racine.—The whole Union ticket is elected by from 15 to 150 majority.

Kenosha.—Robinson (dem.) re-elected mayor by a diminished majority. The common council stands Union 9, democrats 3.

Waukesha.—The Union ticket elected.

Milwaukee.—No opposition to the democratic ticket.

☞ The New York Independent rejoices over the fact that "religious gambling" in the shape of lotteries, &c., at church fairs, has been knocked in the head. Hereafter, according to the provisions of the Internal Revenue Act, a license for lotteries of every kind must be taken out, at an expense of $1,000. The penalty for neglect to do so is three times the amount of the license—$3,000.

But, while this license destroys lotteries in a small way, does it not, by implication, authorize this species of gambling by those who go into the business so extensively as to be able to pay the license of a $1,000?

VOTE OF THE 30TH REGIMENT.—The official vote of the 30th regiment (stationed at Madison) for chief justice, was 569 for Dixon and 55 for Cothren. In four companies Judge Cothren did not get a vote; in two companies he got 1 vote in each, and in one company he got four votes.—Last fall the regiment gave only 271 major-

For the Daily Gazette.

Write Cheerfully to the Soldiers.

Fathers and mothers, brothers and sisters, wives and children, sweet hearts and friends, do you frequently write to your brave soldiers in the army of the Union? This you should do certainly. There should be no dearth of letters among those who have gone forth to uphold the honor of our country in the hour of peril. Write often, and write cheerfully.

From "a call to my country women" in the Atlantic Monthly for March, I take the following passage, which I commend heartily to the attention of letter writers: "Follow the soldier to the battle-field with your spirit. The great army of letters that marches southward with every morning's sun is a powerful engine of war. Fill them with tears and with sighs, lament separation and suffering, dwell on your loneliness and fears, mourn over the dishonesty of contractors and the incompetency of leaders, doubt if the South will ever be conquered, and foresee final ruin, and you will damp the powder and dull the swords that ought to deal death upon the foe. Write as tenderly as you will. In camp the roughest man idealizes his far off home, and every word of love uplifts him to a lover. But let your tenderness unfold its sunny side, and keep the shadows for His pity who knows the end from the beginning, whom no foreboding can disheaten. Glory in your tribulation. Show your soldier that his unflinching courage, his undying fortitude, are your crown of rejoicing. Incite him to enthusiasm by your inspiration. Make a mock of your discomforts. Be unwearying in details of the little interests of home. Fill your letters with kittens and canaries, with baby's shoes and Johnny's handsome gown. Keep him posted in all the village-gossip, the lectures, the courtings, the sleigh-rides and the singing schools. Bring out the good points of the world in strong relief. Tell every sweet and brave and pleasant and funny story you can think of. Show him that you clearly apprehend that all this warfare means peace, and that a dastardly peace would pave the way for speedy, incessant, and more appalling warfare. Help him to bear his burdens by showing him how elastic you are under yours. Hearten him, enliven him, tone him up to the true heropitch."

I wish now to quote a brief passage from a soldier's letter recently received. My brave friend says: "I can assure you that the efforts made in our behalf by the loved ones at home are not in vain. Often, when the tide of uncertain war seemed to roll against us, and we felt weary and homesick, have letters from home, breathing love and effection, telling us that we are kindly cared for, that we are remembered in the evening prayer, and also in the morning petition,—often have these letters given us renewed strength and courage; they have revived our drooping spirits, and we have been able to meet once more the tide of battle and roll it back on the foe. If wives, sisters, mothers, friends and sweet-hearts only knew how much they could help on our cause by writing letters which breathe a patriotic and cheerful spirit, it seems to me they would write oftener, and with less of the mournful and discouraging style of composition. If they only knew they were helping on desertions, helping to demoralize the army, by writing discouraging and fault-finding letters, I know they would sooner see their right hand withered than to be engaged in such a work. I am not troubled personally with any such communications from home, for my wife is a perfect heroine, and is braver than I am. But for the benefit of others, I would say to 'dear ones' at home, comfort, aid, strengthen and assist your 'bold soldier boys' all you can, and man will praise and God will bless you for it."

Do not forget to write, friends; but write cheerfully, write patriotically. Send along loyal papers—don't be afraid of spending a few dimes for this purpose. Keep the soldiers posted in home affairs. W.

THE FEELING OF THE ARMY.—An officer in one of the Wisconsin regiments in McArthur's Division at Lake Providence, La., writes thus:

"The four Wisconsin regiments, viz: the 14th, 16th, 17th and 18th, in this division, are in good health, but very little sickness in either regiment, and from an intimate acquaintance with nearly all the officers and soldiers, I can also state that they are as ready as ever to do battle for the Union, regarding with detestation and abhorrence any class of men or party that advocates peace upon any other terms than a Union restored and indivisible. This is so without reference to former political predilections."

AIR AT WORK.—A paragraph in the foreign news by the Arabia says that the London "Pneumatic Dispatch Company" has commenced forwarding mail-bags through its underground tubes. This enterprise is novel. The pneumatic tubes which have been laid by the company extend from the Easton Railway Station to the Northwestern District post office in Eversholt street, London, a distance of only one-third of a mile, but sufficient for experiment purposes. The tube resembles an eliptical gas main, thirty-three inches wide, and laid in nine feet lengths, at an average depth of nine feet below the street level. The joints are filled with lead so as to be perfectly air-tight. Within this tube runs a wrought iron car, eight feet long, weighing eight cwt., and fitted with four wheels, each twenty inches in diameter. At each end of the tube is a hollow iron wheel, working in an air-tight box of twenty-one inches in diameter, which is connected with a steam engine of seventeen horse power. The wheel turns at a velocity of seventy to ninety miles an hour, when the air which is drawn through its hollow centre is thrown off from its periphery with a force that gives a pressure of from five to seven ounces on the square inch. The iron cars in the tube present a surface of nearly five square feet to the blast, and are propelled at the rate of thirty miles an hour.

The entire cost of a line of five miles is estimated at £131,000, and it is proposed to carry freight as well as mail through London, at the cheap rate of a penny (two cents) a ton per mile. So far the experiment is successful, and the results are very interesting and curious.—N. Y. Eve. Post.

Speech of Gen. Butler.

action with regard to slavery, I was left to the natural instincts of my heart, as prompted by a christian education in New England, and I dealt with it accordingly, as I was no longer bound. [Immense applause.] Then I undertook earnestly and respectfully to maintain, with the same sense of duty to my constitutional obligations and to state rights, so long as they remained under the constitution, that required me to support the system of slavery—and the same sense of duty and right, after they had gone out from under that constitution, caused me to follow the dictates of my own conscience, untrammeled.—[Cheers.]

So, my friends, you see, however misjudging I may have been, and I speak to my old democratic friends, I claim we went along, step by step, up to that point, and we should still go along, step by step; for, except the right to hold slaves was made a part of the compromises made by our fathers in the constitution, and if their state rights were to be respected because of our allegiance to the constitution and our respect to state rights, yet, when that sacred obligation was taken away, and we as well as the negroes were disenthralled, why should not we follow the dictates of God's law and humanity? [Tremendous applause and cries of "Bravo; bravo."] By the exigencies of the public service removed once more to another sphere of action, at New Orleans, I found this problem to come at in another form, and that led me to examine and see how far had progressed this civil commotion, now carried on by force of arms. I found, under our complex system of states and an independent government, and the United States covering all, that there can be treason to the state and not to the United States, and revolution in the state and not as regards the United States, and loyalty to the state and disloyalty to the Union, and loyalty to the Union and disloyalty to the organized government of the state. And, as an illustration, take the troubles which almost lately arose in the state of Rhode Island, where there was an attempt to rebel against the state government and to change the form of state government. All of you are familiar with the movements of Mr. Dorr; there was no intent of disloyalty against the United States, but a great deal against the state government. I therefore in Louisiana found a state government that had entirely changed its form, and had revolutionized itself so far as she could; created courts and imposed taxes; and I found, so far as this state government was concerned, it was no longer in and of itself one of the United States of America. It had so far as it could changed its state government, and by solemn act had forever seceded from the United States of America and attempted to join the confederate states; and I found, I respectfully submit, a revolutionized state! There had been a revolution beyond an insurrection and infraction of the law; beyond the abnegation and setting aside of the law, and a new state government formed, that was being supported by force of arms. Now, upon what thesis shall I deal with these people? Organized into a community under forms of law, they had seized a portion of the territory of the United States; and I respectfully submit I must deal with them as alien enemies. [Great applause.] They had forever passed the boundary of wayward sisters [great laughter and applause,] unless indeed they erred as Cain did against his brother Abel. They had passed beyond that and outside of that. Aye, and Louisiana had done this in the strongest possible way, for she had seized on territory which the government of the United States had bought and paid for. Therefore I dealt with them as alien enemies. [Applause.]

And what rights have alien enemies, captured in war? They have the right, so long as they behave themselves and are non-combatants, to be free from personal violence; they have no other rights; and therefore, it was my duty to see to it, and I believe the record will show, I did see to it. [Great applause and loud cheers.] I did see to it that order was preserved, and that every man who behaved well, and did not aid the confederate states, should not be molested in person. I held everything else that they had was at the mercy of the conqueror [cheers], and to give you an idea of it, permit me to state the method in which their rights were defined by one gentleman of my staff. He very coolly paraphrased the Dred Scott decision, and said they had no rights which a negro was bound to respect. [Loud and prolonged laughter and cheers.] And dealing with them, I took care to protect all men in personal safety. Now I heard a friend behind me say, but how did that affect loyal men? The difficulty with that proposition is this: in governmental action the government, in making peace and carrying on war, cannot deal with individuals, but with organized communities, whether organized wrongly or rightly [cheers], and all I could do, so far as my judgment taught me, for the loyal citizen, was to see to it that no exaction should be put upon him. No property should be taken away from him that was not absolutely necessary for the success of military operations. I know nothing else that I could do. I could not alter the carrying on of the war, because loyal citizens were, unfortunately, like Dog Tray, found in bad company [laughter], and to their persons, and to their property, even, all possible protection I caused to be afforded. But let me repeat—for it is quite necessary to keep it in mind, and I am afraid that the want of this is why some of my old democratic friends have got lost, in getting from one portion of the country to the other, in their thoughts and feelings—let me repeat that, in making war or making peace, carrying on governmental operations of any sort, governments and the representatives, so far as I am instructed, can deal only with organized communities, and men must fall or rise with the communities in which they are situated. You in New York must follow the government as expressed by the will of the majority of your state, until you can revolutionize against that government; and those loyal at the south must, until this contest comes into process of sentiment, also follow the action of the organized majorities in which their lot has been cast, and no man, no set of men, can see the solution of this or any other governmental problem, as affecting states, except upon this basis.

Now, then, to pass from the particular to the general, to leave the detail in Louisiana, which I have run down the account of rather as illustrating my meaning than otherwise, I come to the proposition, what is the contest with all the states that are banded together in the so-called confederate states? Into what form has it come? It started in insurrection; it grew up a rebellion; it has become a revolution, and carrying with it all the rights of a revolution. And our government has dealt with it upon that ground. When they blockaded their ports, they dealt with it as a revolution; when they sent out cartels of exchange of prisoners, they dealt with these people no longer as simple insurrectionists and traitors, but as organized revolutionists, who had set up a government for themselves upon the territory of the United States. Let no man say to me, sir, let no man say to me, "Why, then you acknowledge the rights of revolution in these men!" I beg your pardon, sir, I only acknowledge the fact of revolution. What had happened? I look these things in the face, and I do not dodge them because they are unpleasant; I find this a revolution, and these men are no longer, I repeat, our erring brethren, but they are our alien enemies, foreigners [cheers], carrying on war against us, attempting to make alliances against us, attempting to get into the family of nations. I agree, not a successful revolution, and a revolution never to be successful [loud cheers]; pardon me, I was speaking of a matter of law,—never to be successful until acknowledged by the parent state. And now, then, I am willing to unite with you in your cheers when you say, a revolution which we never will acknowledge.—[Cheers.] Why, sir, have I been so careful in bringing down with great distinctness these distinctions? Because, in my judgment, there are certain logical consequences following from them as necessarily as various corollaries from a problem in Euclid. If we are at war, as I think, with a foreign country to all intents and purposes, how can a man here stand up and say he is on the side of that foreign country and not be an enemy? [Cheers.] A man must be either for his country or against his country. [Cheers.] He cannot be throwing impediments all the time in the way of the progress of his country under the pretense that he is helping some other portion of his country.

Last Night's Report.

PHILADELPHIA, April 8.

A private letter "Off Charleston, April 1st," says:

"It is reported that Charleston has been evacuated by all the women and children. Four Federal iron-clads have been in Edisto river, 20 miles south of here for a week. Admiral Dupont will be here to-day, when it is said the bombardment will come off.

"It is reported that the army will remain at Port Royal until after the bombardment. I think the report is probable, as the rebels had time and opportunity to fortify the land approaches, and make them almost impregnable.

"We have been engaged for the last two days in hanging chains to the sides of our vessels to protect the machinery."

WASHINGTON, April 8.

The government, up to one o'clock, had not received any information regarding events at Charleston.

HELENA, April 4, via Cairo, 7.

The hospital boat City of Louisiana passed up this forenoon. She was crowded with sick soldiers from Gen. Grant's army, en route to northern hospitals. Everything was quiet at Vicksburg.

No later advices from Fort Greenwood has been received. Gen. Ross is expected to arrive here with his division to-morrow.

Several regiments at this post are under marching orders.

MEMPHIS, April 5, via Cairo, 7.

Col. Bissell's corps of engineers arrived here to-day. They will be sent to repair the Memphis & Charleston railroad, and put it in running order.

CINCINNATI, April 7.

A letter from a leading officer in Gen. Rosecrans' army, received here to-day, and dated April 4th, states that the enemy in their front have been reinforced by 60,000 to 75,000 men, and that their numbers are overwhelmingly large. Deserters bring this intelligence to headquarters, and state that no retreat from the present position of the rebels is contemplated, or will be entertained.

SPRINGFIELD, Ill., April 7.

Judge Constable had a hearing to-day before Judge Treat, of the United States district court. A full examination showed that the sergeants, McFarlane and Long, had no authority to take deserters in Illinois, and that the judge acted properly in releasing the men arrested and in holding the officers to bail. He was accordingly discharged from custody. The judgment of the court was rendered simply upon the evidence submitted, the merits of Judge Constable's decision not being discussed.

NEW YORK, April 8.

The New York Evening Post learns that on the 4th inst., Gen. Foster was at Little Washington, with a brigade of North Carolina and a number of other troops, virtually surrounded by the rebels, who have erected batteries on the river between Little Washington and Newbern. It is understood that a battle between Gen. Foster and the rebels had taken place, but nothing definite is known. Heavy firing was heard, lasting from Wednesday night to Friday night, evidently from rebel batteries. Gen. Foster's means of defense are considered ample, having fort entrenchments and sufficient ammunition and provisions.—Large reinforcements in transports below the batteries were unable to reach Foster for want of a naval force competent to take them. It is reported that Foster had sent to Fortress Monroe some time since for naval reinforcements, and it was expected that troops would be sent from Suffolk.

CAIRO, April 8.

Special to Chicago Journal.—Two important expeditions have left Milliken's Bend. They each consist of full divisions of infantry, and are commanded respectively Gen. Steele and Gen. Osterhaus.

Nothing is as yet definitely known as to the operations down the Yazoo Pass.

The gunboat Cincinnati arrived here this afternoon for repairs. She is disabled in her steering apparatus, and had to be towed up by the Rowena and Polar Star.

The steamer Glasgow came down this morning from the Tennessee. She was fired into at Harpeth Shoals, by guerrillas, and her mate, J. Cunningham, and a deck hand named Collins, were severely wounded. The pilot, A. C. Metheny, while at the wheel, was struck by a ball, which passed through his coat, pants, drawers and two shirts, causing a severe bruise, but doing no other damage.

HARTFORD, Conn., April 7.

Returns have been received from every town in the State, except Hartford. The The vote for governor foots up, Buckingham 38,309, Seymour 35,836. Buckingham's majority is about 2,500. The Senate stands 14 Union and 7 Democrats. House, 139 Union and 94 Democrats, with two towns a tie. For Congress, Dening, Brandigee, and Hubbard, Union, and English, Democrat, are elected.

CAIRO, April 8.

Deserters, stragglers, convalescents from hospitals, those who have overstaid their furloughs, and other soldiers who have been absent from their regiments, are returning to them through Cairo, at the rate of about two hundred a day. Within the last month several thousands have thus been added to General Grant's army, and still they come. Although the time for the President's proclamation is out, they are still sent forward as fast as they arrive.

To-Day's Report.

[Reported Exclusively for the Daily Gazette.]

MORNING DISPATCHES.

NEW YORK, April 9.

From various correspondents the following additional facts are gleaned relative to Gen. Foster's position at Washington, N. C. On the 30th ult., about 10,000 rebels under Hill and Petigrew went to the north side of the town, and seven regiments were on the south bank of the Pamlico river.—Two companies of the 44th Massachusetts while on a reconnoisance, marched right into the ambuscade, suffering considerably from the withering fire of musketry at shot range. Capt. Lyon's company of North Carolina troops was also badly cut up, 3 or 4 killed and 6 or 8 wounded, among the latter Capt. Lyon. The gunboat Com. Holt opened on the rebels, and scattering them. That night the rebels took up all the buoys in the river, and planted batteries in such a position along the bank as to render it almost impossible for the vessels to pass, and established themselves on Red Hill, two miles from the town, completely commanding our works.

Next day the Com. Holt got aground, and was struck thirty times by the rebel batteries, but finally got off. Two transports with troops, unsuccessfully attempted to reach Foster. A small lighter succeeded in reaching Foster with supplies and ammunition. Hill notified Foster to remove all women and children, as he intended to shell the town, but up to the 2d it had not been done, as our gunboats had kept the battery fully engaged. On the 4th, more gunboats arrived, and others with 9 and 11 inch guns were expected. On the 5th the fort was heavily sodded, and Foster has over 2,000 troops. A Newbern letter dated the 3d, 10 P. M., states that the gunboats which arrived at the mouth of the river, it is thought, will be able to demolish the rebel batteries. Gens. Palmer and Prince have taken such steps as lead to the removal of all fears for the safety of Foster. The rebels are reported as having 5,000 men between Newburn and Washington.

AFTERNOON DISPATCHES.

HEADQUARTERS ARMY OF POTOMAC, April 8th, 1863.

Richmond papers say that the storm has at last broke over Charleston. We are confident of the result, but may heaven preserve that city from its enemies and ours.

MILWAUKEE, April 9th.

Kenosha city and county give Dixon about 350 majority.

Dane county will give Dixon a small majority, a gain of 600 over last fall's vote.

Dodgeville gives Dixon 79 majority.

Richmond Centre, Richland county, gives Dixon 98 majority.

CLARKSVILLE, Tenn., April 8.

1200 rebels, under Woodward, with 2 pieces of cannon, captured and burned the steamers Lovell and Saxonia to-day, killing the captain of the Saxonia.

Generals Johnston and Bragg recently boasted that they would possess Kentucky before harvest.

CINCINNATI, April 9th.

A special to the Commercial from Murfreesboro', says: Col. Wilder has returned from an expedition, via Lebanon and Carthage, having captured 29 rebels, destroyed quantities of wheat, corn and bacon. He also brought 360 negroes. Our expeditions have recently destroyed much rebel subsistence and forage, and captured 700 horses and mules, 200 prisoners, and 200 negroes.

MILWAUKEE, April 9.

Flour quiet. Wheat steady at 1.07½a 1.17.

A SLIGHT MISTAKE.—On the morning of the state election, the copperheads of Providence, R. I., to fill a vacancy, placed the name of Ex-Governor Charles Jackson on their ticket for senator in the legislature, and elected the ticket. Since the election, the copperheads have ascertained that the ex-governor, although always a democrat, is an active member of the union league; and now they are rolling themselves in sackcloth and ashes and all kinds of dirt, as a penance for having voted for a union leaguer.

A GOOD IDEA.—Capt. Coulter, formerly of the 11th Pennsylvania regiment, who lost his arm at Fredericksburg, has obtained the sanction of the President to raise a brigade composed of men who through disability are unfitted for active duty in the field. These troops will be used for provost, garrison and hospital duty. By this means a large number of able-bodied troops now performing this duty will be sent into the field.

COTTON SEED.—The farmers in Southern Illinois are taking hold of cotton seed in earnest this season. Six car loads of seed were sent to different points on the line of the Illinois Central, from Cairo, this week.

THE BRITISH WEDDING.—Marriage is frequently happy or unhappy, according, to use a familiar phrase, to the means of boiling the pot. The Danish bride is portionless, but the bridegroom, as the elder-born son of England, and future King, has enough for both. Each Prince of Wales is born, not with a silver spoon, but with a golden ladel in his mouth. From the moment when he draws his first breath he succeeds to various hereditary titles, with the revenue of the Duchy of Cornwall to maintain their "dignity." This annual rental, when there is not a Prince of Wales, goes into the pocket of the reigning monarch; where there is, it ought to be laid by and husbanded for him during the 21 years of his minority. George the Third took all this money, (a gross total of $1,190,000,) while his son was under age, and subsequently declined giving an account, or surrendering a sixpence of it—claiming the whole as an offset to the board and lodging, dress and education from youth to manhood!

The parents of the present Prince of Wales acted more honestly. The pecuniary affairs of the Duchy of Cornwall were so wisely administered, that on attaining his majority last November, he found his revenue or rental increased from £20,000 to over £46,000 a year—and accumulated rental to the amount of £563,000 in the three per cent consols, actually worth £420,000 at the market price of the day. Out of this £250,000 has already been paid away on the purchase of an estate in Norfolk, to be the Prince's private residence, the annual renting of which will be about £5,000, or 2½ per cent on the capital invested. His outfit, such as the furnishing of Marlborough house, adjacent to St. James' palace, carriages, stud, livery place, &c., will absorb £100,000 of the balance, and £160,000 is to be expended on the mansion and land at Norfolk. The rent, with interest of the remainder added to the Duchy revenue, gives the Prince a clear rental of £90,000 a year. To this Parliament has added £40,000 a year for the Prince, and £10,000 for the Princess, with final provision of £30,000 a year as jointure, should her husband die before her.

A new line of steamships has been established between New York and Washington, to accommodate the immense amount of freight going to the latter city.

THE WAR SPRING DRIED UP.—The Fredericksburg correspondent of the Tallahassee Floridian tells the following strange story:

"While speaking of peace, there is a legend connected with a spring near Fredericksburg, which I will relate for the benefit of the curious. According to tradition, this spring was discovered running three months before the revolutionary war.—Three months before a treaty of peace it dried up and ceased to run. It commenced running again before the war of 1812, and three months before its close, as in the revolutionary war, it again dried up, and so with the Mexican war. Three months before the fall of Fort Sumpter it again commenced running, and a short time since dried up. I give as my author for this an aged man who was born and is living near the spring, and who has considerable property, and offers to bet it all that we will have peace in three months from the dry-up of the spring."

DIED.

At Jackson, Tennessee, January 23, 1863, DELOS THOMAS, of the 11th Illinois cavalry, formerly a resident of Magnolia, in this county, aged 23 years.

Twenty-Second Regiment.

We were gratified this morning by a call from Dr. Burbank, assistant surgeon of the 22nd regiment. He left Nashville last Tuesday morning, 6th inst., and brings information from the regiment which he communicates through us to the public. After the affair at Brentwood Station, in which the remaining portion of the regiment was captured, he met Lacon J. Hand, who had escaped from his captors. When Mr. Hand escaped, it was three o'clock in the morning. The prisoners had then marched 25 or 30 miles without food, and expected none till they crossed Root river. In this respect, however, captors and captured fared alike, the rebels having no food for themselves. On the march, up to the time Mr. H. escaped, Lieut. Col. Bloodgood was allowed to ride and wear his sword. Major Smith was allowed to ride. Seven other members escaped at the time of the capture, and had reported at Nashville.

Dr. Burbank furnishes the following list of members of that regiment in hospital, the most of whom he saw previous to his departure:

In Hospital at Cincinnati—Sylvester R. Stevens.

In Hospital at Lexington—Henry Robbins, Abram Robottom, Benjamin Seymour, George West, O. N. Harrison.

In Hospital at Louisville—J M Bullock, John A Johnson, Wm Luse, John Powles, Isaac T Carr, Benj Sellek.

Hospital No. 1—Chas Igrem, Burrett Alcott, Levi S Woodling.

Hospital No. 2—Oliver Sheldon, Henry Hodge, Evan Jones, Andrew Arnot, W E Anderson, Peter Heron, John Houston, Orrin J Hale.

Hospital No. 3—Richard Hancock, S C West.

Hospital No. 4—Wm H Holmes.

Hospital No. 7—John Fay, Andrew Oleson.

Hospital No. 8—Stephen F Ball, Chancey O Easton, E W Austin, S C Richardson, Edward C Bose, R P Young, John W Clark, W Hunt, Josiah R Clawson, Franklin Kittinger, George Robinson, James Griffin, John W Spriggs, J W Lewis.

Hospital No. 12—C Chipman (wounded), E Oleston, J A Chambers (wounded).

Hospital No. 13—Daniel Terwilliger, Wm Edgar, Ormund A Dutton, E C Davis, L S Marcy, Julius Westinghouse, John McDonald, John Griffith, Obadiah J Merrills, James King, Knud A Knudson, Hiram Ellingson, Isaac R Blake, Edward W Jones, James Ingersoll, Robert B Jones, Joseph B Walworth, Wm H Lee, Benj F Pope, Gilman H Combs, Clark Huntley, Alexander Pope, John S Kendall, H M Cadwell, John Dolen, E D Blanchard, James F W Cole, C M Ross.

Hospital No. 18—A J Howe, Theodore S Pierce.

Hospital No. 19—Albert Smith, Frank Gibson, Wm Lindley, Wm Patterson, John B Preston, Philander Rewey, John Schritzmeyer, David Johnson, George Van Waggoner, Wendell Fuhr.

Hospital No. 23—Wm H Minott, George Knilans (wounded), A W Bullock, Hans J Peterson, R A Spencer, Chas Booth.

The following persons were in convalescent camps, and a portion of them have since been sent to Franklin, on duty:

A Bradt, Alfred Bond, Chas Braithwait, David Bumford, Leonard Brush, John J Cone, —— Chase, John Dayton, Samuel A Emery, A D Goodman, Lacon J Hand, —— Lockwood, James B Morse, Martin Mercer, Wm Needles, John Plagueman, Andrus Peck, —— Robilliard, John Rowley.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—There will be an examination of the High School tomorrow, (Friday,) commencing at 9 o'clock A. M., and continuing through the day. The exercises will be interspersed with compositions, declamations and singing. The public are cordially invited to attend upon these exercises at the High School building.

CLINTON, Wis., April 7.

Messrs. Editors:—Town meeting and election is over. The whole number of votes cast for chief justice was 197, of which L. S. Dixon received 139.

The whole number cast for town officers was 195, of which the republican ticket received on an average 155.

Yours truly, D. G. CHEEVER.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, for the election of officers, will be held at their hall this evening at 7½ o'clock. A full attendance is expected.

B. BORNHEIM, Sec'y.

NEW BELL.—Washington Engine Company No. 3 have received a very fine bell, weighing nearly four hundred pounds. It is to be placed on their engine house and used as alarm bell in cases of fire. The tone is different from that of the church bells, and is a well merited compliment to an active and energetic company.

A BREAK DOWN.—While the board were canvassing the votes cast in the first ward, on Tuesday evening, the timbers under the floor gave way, and the floor, with all the persons and engine, settled down until it came in contact with the ground. No one hurt.

ANNUAL CYCLOPEDIA.—O. J. Dearborn has received volume 16 of the New American Cyclopedia, and is ready to deliver it.

RETURNED.—Dr. Wolcott and suite have returned from their sanitary visit in behalf of the Wisconsin regiments, in the army before Vicksburg. The Doctor brings the most encouraging accounts of the condition of our men. The health of the army is not only comparatively good, but positively so. The men were never in better spirits, nor more ready and desirous for active employment. Everything looked encouraging, and although there might be partial failures in some of the details, there was little or no danger of a failure in the grand object contemplated.—Milwaukee

The public is aware that the cause of the great advance in the price of Imported Goods was the the enormous premium on gold, to buy exchange and pay duties; that having declined from 74 to 38 per cent, or about 50 per cent on former rates, and we having been on the spot when it took place, went in for

Twenty-Second Regiment.

We were gratified this morning by a call from Dr. Burbank, assistant surgeon of the 22nd regiment. He left Nashville last Tuesday morning, 6th inst., and brings information from the regiment which he communicates through us to the public. After the affair at Brentwood Station, in which the remaining portion of the regiment was captured, he met Lacon J. Hand, who had escaped from his captors. When Mr. Hand escaped, it was three o'clock in the morning. The prisoners had then marched 25 or 30 miles without food, and expected none till they crossed Root river. In this respect, however, captors and captured fared alike, the rebels having no food for themselves. On the march, up to the time Mr. H. escaped, Lieut. Col. Bloodgood was allowed to ride and wear his sword. Major Smith was allowed to ride. Seven other members escaped at the time of the capture, and had reported at Nashville.

Dr. Burbank furnishes the following list of members of that regiment in hospital, the most of whom he saw previous to his departure:

In Hospital at Cincinnati—Sylvester R. Stevens.

In Hospital at Lexington—Henry Robbins, Abram Robottom, Benjamin Seymour, George West, O. N. Harrison.

In Hospital at Louisville—J M Bullock, John A Johnson, Wm Luse, John Powles, Isaac T Carr, Benj Sellek.

Hospital No. 1—Chas Igrem, Burrett Alcott, Levi S Woodling.

Hospital No. 2—Oliver Sheldon, Henry Hodge, Evan Jones, Andrew Arnot, W E Anderson, Peter Heron, John Houston, Orrin J Hale.

Hospital No. 3—Richard Hancock, S C West.

Hospital No. 4—Wm H Holmes.

Hospital No. 7—John Fay, Andrew Oleson.

Hospital No. 8—Stephen F Ball, Chancey O Easton, E W Austin, S C Richardson, Edward C Bose, R P Young, John W Clark, W Hunt, Josiah R Clawson, Franklin Kittinger, George Robinson, James Griffin, John W Spriggs, J W Lewis.

Hospital No. 12—C Chipman (wounded), E Oleston, J A Chambers (wounded).

Hospital No. 13—Daniel Terwilliger, Wm Edgar, Ormund A Dutton, E C Davis, L S Marcy, Julius Westinghouse, John McDonald, John Griffith, Obadiah J Merrills, James King, Knud A Knudson, Hiram Ellingson, Isaac R Blake, Edward W. Jones, James Ingersoll, Robert B Jones, Joseph B Walworth, Wm H Lee, Benj F Pope, Gilman H Combs, Clark Huntley, Alexander Pope, John S Kendall, H M Cadwell, John Dolen, E D Blanchard, James F W Cole, C M Ross.

Hospital No. 18—A J Howe, Theodore S Pierce.

Hospital No. 19—Albert Smith, Frank Gibson, Wm Lindley, Wm Patterson, John B Preston, Philander Rewey, John Schritzmeyer, David Johnson, George Van Wagener, Wendell Fuhr.

Hospital No. 23—Wm H Minott, George Knitans (wounded), A W Bullock, Hans J Peterson, R A Spencer, Chas Booth.

The following persons were in convalescent camps, and a portion of them have since been sent to Franklin, on duty:

A Bradt, Alfred Bond, Chas Braithwait, David Bamford, Leonard Brush, John J Cone, —— Chase, John Dayton, Samuel A Emery, A D Goodman, Lacon J Hand, —— Lockwood, James B Morse, Martin Mercer, Wm Needles, John Plagueman, Andrus Peck, —— Robilliard, John Rowley.

HIGH SCHOOL EXAMINATION.—There will be an examination of the High School tomorrow, (Friday,) commencing at 9 o'clock A. M., and continuing through the day. The exercises will be interspersed with compositions, declamations and singing. The public are cordially invited to attend upon these exercises at the High School building.

CLINTON, Wis., April 7.

Messrs. Editors:—Town meeting and election is over. The whole number of votes cast for chief justice was 197, of which L. S. Dixon received 139.

The whole number cast for town officers was 195, of which the republican ticket received on an average 155.

Yours truly. D. G. CHEEVER.

ANNUAL MEETING.—The annual meeting of the Rescue Hook and Ladder Company No. 1, for the election of officers, will be held at their hall this evening at 7½ o'clock. A full attendance is expected.

B. BORNHEIM, Sec'y.

NEW BELL.—Washington Engine Company No. 3 have received a very fine bell, weighing nearly four hundred pounds. It is to be placed on their engine house and used as alarm bell in cases of fire. The tone is different from that of the church bells, and is a well merited compliment to an active and energetic company.

A BREAK DOWN.—While the board were canvassing the votes cast in the first ward, on Tuesday evening, the timbers under the floor gave way, and the floor, with all the persons and engine, settled down until it came in contact with the ground. No one hurt.

ANNUAL CYCLOPEDIA.—O. J. Dearborn has received volume 16 of the New American Cyclopedia, and is ready to deliver it.

RETURNED.—Dr. Wolcott and suite have returned from their sanitary visit in behalf of the Wisconsin regiments, in the army before Vicksburg. The Doctor brings the most encouraging accounts of the condition of our men. The health of the army is not only comparatively good, but positively so. The men were never in better spirits, nor more ready and desirous for active employment. Everything looked encouraging, and although there might be partial failures in some of the details, there was little or no danger of a failure in the grand object contemplated.—Milwaukee Sentinel.

GENERAL ORDER No. 1.

TO THE PEOPLE OF WISCONSIN.

The best bought, best selected, best assorted and most extensive stock of

DRY GOODS

ever offered in Janesville, is now open to

PUBLIC INSPECTION

at the Great Mart of McKey & Bro.

WE have taken advantage of the recent unparalleled fall in the price of gold, E. McKey having resided almost exclusively in New York for the past three months, was on hand and of first class importers, who, under the influence of the panic,

BOUGHT LARGELY

Sacrificed Many Desirable Goods

at 50 cents on the dollar of the prices ruling one week previous. The public is aware that the cause of the great advance in the price of Imported Goods was the enormous premium on gold, to buy exchange and pay duties; that having declined from 74 to 34 per cent, or about 50 per cent on former rates, and we having been on the spot when it took place, went in for the purchase of one of which would Gobble up the entire resources of many of the so-called Merchants who Blow, Hurrah and Clap their hands before the public.

Piles of Goods,

But we believe that sensation advertisements are played out, and that it is scarcely necessary to inform the public that those who are compelled to buy goods in small lots, and live as it were from hand to mouth, cannot pretend to COMPETE WITH US!

In proof of which we offer the following:

200 pcs full yd wide New York E Sheetings, 30c per yd.
200 pcs Portsmouth unbleached factory,.....29c "
500 pcs Spring De Laines,.....25c "
600 pcs new Spring De Laines,.....21½c "
300 Balmoral S-lets, 4 yds wide, 1¾ yds long $2 50.
100 pcs A T Stewart fine print'd French Jaconets, 31½c"

200 Ps Fine French Organdies at 25c per yd, which were bought under peculiar circumstances, the same quality having been sold at who easle last week in New York at 44c per yard. None of the above will be sold to neighboring speculators; our legitimate trade alone supplied

Our purchases of nearly a year ago were so enormous that we still

HAVE MANY PACKAGES

of heavy and fine bleached and unbleached Sheetings and Shirtings, Merrimac, Sprague and other Prints, Shirtings, Stripes, Tickings, Denims, Cottonades for Summer wear, &c., &c., all of which we will now open and close out at prices which will make the small fry stand aside, and still further add to the Brilliant and Tremendous success which has crowned our efforts for the last fourteen years.
